A Letter from Father Sheldon

My dear Parish Family,

We often hear the saying: The truth hurts.

As Christians we must always speak the truth. Although at times, speaking the truth, can be challenging. How many times have we experienced that our friends didn't believe us or hated us because they didn't like what they heard even if it was the truth. It even seems the world prefers to hear lies than truth as long as they're pleasing to our ears and won't hurt us.

This weekend, the readings invite us to live for the truth and if necessary, die for the truth. In the first reading we heard, Jeremiah, as a prophet, was speaking the truth. But The people of Jerusalem didn't like what they had been hearing from him. He was thrown into the cistern to die. but He was saved. Thanks to a court official, Ebed Melech.

What Jesus speaks in the gospel is not very likable. The prince of peace will bring down fire is not something we like to hear. But that was the truth. His teachings are the fire that will transform the lives of people. It was expected that His teachings of truth will cause divisions. Indeed in the life of the first Christians these things happened.

This still happens in our time. Christians are divided because some doctrines are not acceptable to others. It hurts, but we, Catholics, are divided because what Pope Francis said is not in favorable to some.

We must work for unity, not divisions. This can only be done if we all let go of our pride and selfish agenda. There is one truth bigger than our own truth. Even if it hurts, let us make an effort to adhere to the foundation of our faith. The truth himself. Jesus Christ. He was hurt and still hurting being the truth.

I pray for you. Please continue to pray for me.

Fr. Sheldon
