Home Schooling

Some parents in our program have requested the option of home schooling their child in religion. Usually this is due to difficulties in transporting their child to and from religion classes. Whatever the reason may be, anyone who wishes to home school, that is teach their child(ren) religion at home may do so. The Bishop of Trenton does require that certain policies be followed if any family wants to take on the responsibility of teaching the faith to their children apart from the parish religious education program. These policies are:

- Parents will register the child(ren) at the parish and agree to follow all parish and diocesan catechetical policies.
- The parish will supply the parents with information and materials regarding curriculum expectations.
- Parents are expected to use the materials provided by the parish and to submit a copy of any additional resources they may be using to the Director of the program.
- It is up to the Pastor and the Director to determine a means by which their progress is evaluated.

Our parish policies for home schooling in religion are:

- Parents must register every year and pay the tuition. On the top of the re-registration form write, "Home Schooling", and the name and grade of the child.
- Materials will be given and must be picked up on set dates in September.
- Students in sacramental grades (2nd, 7th and 8th) cannot be home schooled, they must attend the parish program on site.
- A test following each unit should be completed. These unit tests are submitted before re-registering for the next grade level.
